Project 01

Water & sanitation to disadvantage families

OBJECTIVE OF THE PROJECT

To empower war affected families to sustain their livelihood through increased local income and reduced external dependency by providing water facilities to coconut plantations & other vegetation. Strengthening and sustaining household income, the war affected families have an increased opportunity to lead a more independent life. There are limited options of sources of income for people living in rural areas in poverty. The income must be sustainable and meet the need of the family. The income should be based upon the skills, experience and interest of the Person or a family member and be applicable to their physical living environment. Income is the main reason for every development in every family. Therefore when given a hand to get some more income, each family will develop themselves with our support. We aim for long term projects which will ensure long term income, such as Coconut plantations. Well and sanitation projects will belong projects.

Project 04

Empowerment of disadvantaged women.

OBJECTIVE OF THE PROJECT

To implement and deliver a holistic program that aims to empower the women politically, economically and improve their physical and mental health.

The key concerns and obstacles are social stigma, economic disadvantage, low health resources and mental stress. The combination of these issues and obstacles has weakened their struggle in the community. They have limited employment opportunities, lack of education for their children, injuries caused by war and lack of medical intervention, no mental health care and sexual harassment and abuse. Another disadvantage for these women is their status in their community and the lack of open communication about abuse and sexual harassment due to fear.

Project 05

English language development to village children

The CHILD WIN PROJECT is currently underway in three villagers such as Ponnakar, Ananthapuram and Thondamannagar. A Total of 122 student's benefit out of this program. These children express lot of enthusiasm to learn English and their learning activity needs to be properly guided. These children have lost either one of their parents and the remaining parent is unable to guide their English learning at home due to their lack of English knowledge. Apart from that their low financial condition does not allow them to travel to the city to learn English.

Ponnakar

The children from this village live way under the poverty line. Either one of their parents are dead or seriously injured by the civil war. These parents are either affected physically or mentally.

Children are living under the poverty line, hence they walk to school. Schools are not in the same place where the children live. As the schools are so far from the village, children don't have time for extra classes.

These parents are doing daily waged labor jobs, they return home late in the evenings. During this time the children are left alone and their times are not usefully managed.

Though these children are with no Basic English knowledge, they do express lot of interest to learn when opportunity is given.

Ananthapuram&Thondamannagar

The children from these villages are with very minimum English knowledge. They are unable to properly write the English alphabets or pronounce the words. Though the parents motivated for their children to learn, they are unable to teach or guide them.

As we consider all three villages the children are very enthusiastic to learn through this training project. Their parents are also willing to do the training for their children. and they are supporting us to continue this training..

The following aspects are identified in this English project. This will expand the children's ability to read, pronounce and gain Basic English knowledge. As there is a competition element in this project the children do show more interest and involvement in their learning activity.

Varasiththi Vinayagar Alayam

Vara Sikthi Vinayagar temple situated in Malayalapuram, Kilinochchi district servicing 642 families. When Malayalapuram village was established at the same time this temple was started by this community to save their lives from wild elephants & other challenges forty years ago. The village people built this temple out of their own money & dedicating their man power to gradually build this temple in 2007, amongst various challenges, displacements & war. The people of the village relieved their stress & worries through this temple worship during hard times & war. In 2007 the whole village was displaced & moved towards Mulivaikal by the end of war. During this final displacement 292 village people died due to the war between 2007 & 2009, during this time the temple was totally destroyed. Then village people returned to Malayalapuram through IDP camps & resettlement processes in 2010. Since 2010 to until now Malayalapuram village is gradually developing & rising itself to its former glory. Between 2013 to 2015 seven suicides have taken place.

The temple worship is most important to post war community for stress relief & resettlement. KKM Vanni hope promoted the village people to rebuild their own temple. To support the rebuilding & construction work, KKM Vanni Hope will contribute nearly 3 million Sri Lankan rupees from its sponsors. The village people are contributing whatever they can from their modest savings. We are expecting the temple to be completed by April, & Kumbabisegam will be held in April.

KKM Vanni Hope believes stress relief is most important to post war community & to rebuild their personal lives. The spiritual promotion is most needed to achieve our goal & objectives. The temple will be a place for fellowship & social interaction within the community.
